

MATE OF IS SHOT AND KILLED BY PACKAGE BOY

Dispute Over Alleged Gambling Debt Ends In Fatal Quarrel In Restaurant

KING STREET CROWD SEES STEAMBOAT SAILOR DIE

Japanese Assassin Arrested and Found Slightly Wounded Upon Breast

Oliver W. Paakabili, second mate of the steamer Maui, is dead in the morgue, and Takinui Takishi, his slayer, is in a cell.

The Japanese, who is a package boy aboard the Inter-Island boat of which the dead man was second mate, shot Oliver shortly after nine o'clock Saturday night in a room above a restaurant and barber shop on King street, near River, following a quarrel that originated over an alleged gambling debt.

For some little time there has been bad blood between the Chinese-Hawaiian second mate and the Japanese package man, the latter being given a reputation by his shipmates that is not much to his credit as a keeper of the peace. Saturday evening the pair were seen together in the vicinity of the restaurant and barber shop on the makai side of King street, Ewa of the fishmarket, and are known to have had an altercation involving money.

Accustomed to Gamble Both had at various times indulged the pastime of what is known to natives as "seven-eleven," playing with dice for money. They had played aboard ship and took numerous opportunities to try their skill ashore. No one of the many associates of the two suspected, however, that there existed such animosity as might terminate in a tragedy. The shooting stunned the friends of Paakabili, for he was well liked by his comrades aboard the Maui and by those who knew him in town. He was married, and leaves a widow and three children at 1600 Liliha street.

Takinui was arrested a few minutes after he put a bullet through the second mate's head, and was taken at once to the police station, where he was first handed over to Police Surgeon D. G. Ayer, for the Japanese declared that he had been stabbed by the man whom he had killed, asserting that he had used his gun only in self-defense.

Takinui's Ours Slight Once under the bright electric lights of Dr. Ayer's headquarters at the city receiving station, the Japanese was quickly examined, the expert fingers of the police surgeon speedily uncovering such wounds as Takinui had. His story of having been stabbed dwindled to two long, superficial cuts, hardly more than scratches across his chest, and a couple of slightly deeper cuts across his left forearm.

Police officers were present while the doctor was making his examination and cleansing and otherwise giving his attention to the cuts. Meanwhile the man with blood on his conscience kept up a rapid fire of talk of how the event occurred. He told his story over and over again, professing to sense the disbelief that was registered in the faces of some of those who heard him. He was asked what he had done with the revolver with which he had killed Paakabili, and he replied that he had left it in the pocket of his coat hanging up in the restaurant where he and Oliver had eaten. This was obviously untrue, for the reason that he had his coat on his back when he was taken to the emergency hospital. The coat had been removed to allow an examination to be made, and was not in his sight at the time that he made this statement. Apparently he had had several drinks, evidently of sake, and while he was by no means drunk, it seemed that he had taken enough of the beverage to affect his brain.

Coat Badly Slashed His coat had been slashed with a sharp knife, but the slashes in his coat did not correspond to the cuts on his body. The latter were such as might have been made by himself with a view to establishing evidence for asserting that the dead man had attacked him with a knife. These superficial slashes were just such wounds as might be made by one who, for a strong reason, wished to mark himself, and, at the same time, was afraid of hurting himself. The cuts across the chest, white long, were no worse than might have been made with a pin scraped across the body. No stitches were required. The cuts on the left forearm were a little more severe, one of them calling for five stitches at the hands of Dr. Ayer. A small artery near the surface had been partly severed and bled profusely.

Doctor Harbors Doubts "It would be very difficult," remarked Dr. Ayer, "for me to be brought to believe that Takinui did not cut himself. What his reasons may have been is another story, as Rudyard says."

Takinui declared, over and over again, that he had shot Paakabili in self-defense. He claims that the Chinese-Hawaiian owed him some money, though he did not say what for, and that he had on numerous occasions tried to collect it. When they were together at the King street place on Saturday night, Takinui says he asked for payment on account. For reply, he says, Paakabili reached for a knife and slashed at him again and again. Thinking that he was stabbed and that the second mate would kill him unless he defended himself, the Japanese states that he drew his gun and fired. He doesn't know how many times he fired.

KUHIO WHARF USED BY THE MAUNA KEA

Closing of Railroad Dock Gives Chance For Proof of Waters' Placidity

(Mail Special to The Advertiser.)

HILLO, Aug. 4.—With the arrival of the Mauna Kea yesterday the Kuhio wharf was brought into use, for the Hawaii Consolidated Railway company had announced the day before that the railroad wharf at Waikanae had been closed. There was a practical demonstration of the placidity of the waters of Kuhio bay.

Landed Without Trouble The vessel lay alongside as other vessels have done lately and passengers were landed without trouble, while the greater amount of space on the wharf permitted the discharging of freight with even better despatch than at the railroad wharf. Of course, the passengers had some greater distance to travel from the wharf to the center of the city, but this was no great inconvenience.

The Inter-Island officials could have nothing to complain of, for the steamer berthed with more ease than had been the case at the Waikanae wharf and was ready to leave on time this morning.

Considering Repairs To Wharf The officials of the railroad company have had another inspection of the Waikanae wharf made. It was decided by the directors of the company, after receiving a report from General Superintendent R. W. Miller, to close the wharf indefinitely. Whether repairs will be made or whether the wharf will be closed permanently is under consideration.

ASIATIC CHOLERA NO MENACE HERE

Vessels Arriving From Orient This Week Have Not Been Exposed To Epidemic

The first vessel scheduled to depart from Yokohama for Honolulu after the outbreak of Asiatic cholera in Yokohama, which was reported in press despatches yesterday morning, is the T. K. K. steamer Nippon Maru, which is due to sail from Yokohama August 15, arriving here August 25, three days late. She may not call at Yokohama in view of the presence of the disease.

Vessels due this week—Panama Maru from Yokohama, Unkai Maru from Manzanilla, Dix from Moji, Kiyu Maru from Yokohama and Tenyo Maru from Yokohama—departed before the outbreak. The T. K. K. chartered freight steamer Shinyo Maru, first reported from Yokohama July 31 and now Aug. 4, sailed about the time the Hawaii Maru had her pilchik, but probably before cholera first was reported in Yokohama itself. The Shinyo Maru should arrive here August 19.

The Dix is from Manila, having arrived at Nagasaki last month. The Onaka Shosen Kaisha steamer Hawaii Maru, it will be recalled, arrived at Yokohama three days ago from Manila with fifteen cases of cholera and four deaths, all in the steerage. She came from Manila July 14, bound to Tacoma. She probably has been at Japan and China ports since departing from Manila.

In the Tenyo Maru, due here Wednesday, are 200 Filipino steerage passengers. She sailed from Manila July 10, about the time the Hawaii Maru departed. Despatches are not specific in stating when the disease is believed to have originated in the Philippines, although it was stated that most of the infected passengers were from Manila.

and he wasn't thinking, he declared, of killing the other man, only of defending himself against what he feared would be a fatal knife thrust. When he saw Paakabili drop, he was frightened. However, he asserts, the shooting was in self defense.

Friends of Oliver are not inclined to believe the knife story, saying that if he had wanted to attack the Japanese he would have used his hands, having been handy with his fists when forced into a fight, though he was of a peaceful disposition and not in the habit of seeking a quarrel.

Japanese Quarrels Some Men who have sailed with Takinui aboard the Maui say that recently the Japanese and the Hawaiian had had some trouble over money matters growing out of alleged gambling debts. They further say that the Japanese was in the habit of carrying a long knife and sleeping with it beneath his pillow. As far as they observed, there had been no violence between the second mate and the package boy, but words quarrelled over dice throwing had marred what at one time had been a friendship. Whether or not the second mate had been drinking prior to the final quarrel with the Japanese has not yet been made quite clear.

The shouts and cries of men and women in the building immediately following the shooting attracted a crowd, and Takinui was disarmed and held until the arrival of the police, about ten minutes after the killing had taken place. Paakabili was beyond all aid, and his body was removed to the morgue, where Doctor Ayer will today perform an autopsy. Takinui was released to the police station, where, after Dr. Ayer had attended to his apparently self-inflicted wounds, the prisoner was taken to the Detective bureau upstairs and examined for what he might have to say in regard to the case. As yet no charge has been laid against him.

MRS. MOTT-SMITH NEAR DEATH IN AUTO SMASH

Wife, Son and Daughter of Attorney Jump From Car Just In Time

Just in time to escape death or serious injury under E. A. Mott-Smith's Cadillac car, his wife, daughter, son and Mrs. Doris Paris, jumped from the vehicle an instant before it turned turtle over an embankment on the dangerous Red Hill road late yesterday afternoon. The machine rolled over and was badly wrecked.

The car, traveling down the steep slope over a surface made unusually slippery by a slight rain, skidded to the left, striking the bank, then rebounded to the opposite side and over the edge, where its progress was impeded for a time by a tree. In that very short space of time, perhaps not more than two or three seconds at most, the members of the party succeeded in leaping from it.

Then the car slowly lurched over sideways and gathering momentum rolled down to complete wreckage. Except for a slight shaking up and the nervous shock none of the members of the party was injured. They were returning from Waiman. Mott-Smith had passed over the dangerous spot safely in another machine a few minutes before.

FOUR PLANTATIONS PAY ENORMOUSLY

Nearly Six Hundred Thousand Dollars Is Distributed In Dividends In One Day

Four plantations paid $501,250 in dividends yesterday but half a million of this was disbursed by one company. H. C. & S. Co. paid an extra dividend of $1 per share in addition to its regular monthly 25 cents, $500,000 in all. Honoma paid $150 per share, $111,250. Hutchinson disbursed an extra 20 cents and its regular 30 cents, $50,000; and Panama distributed 25 cents, or $30,000.

Under heavy buying orders at bargain prices there was a quick recovery in the stock market yesterday. Olan sold down to $17.50 but recovered to $18.25, total transfers being 1150 shares. 600 Mr. Hyde sold at $12 and 200 at 12.25. 750 Oahu and a few Ewa sold levels and 300 H. C. & S. Co. a quarter off. Pioneer lost one and a quarter; Waiman a half; Ewa, a quarter; and Brewery one-eighth. Honoma was unchanged. Koloa jumped $10 a share and Dindings $4, $2 per share. $3,000 Kauni Railway bonds, 6s, sold at 101.50, a half point advance.

Rubber prices dropped again, cable advice dated August 4 stating that Singapore, sales were made at 50.44 and New York 50.00. On the curb Honolulu Oil was in demand. 900 sold at 3.32 1/2 and then 1000 at 3.35. The only other sale noted was 400 Engels at 2.50. Bid and Asked prices were: Honolulu Oil 3.32 1/2—3.40; Engles, Copper 2.50—2.55; Mineral Products 1.90—1.92 1/2; Mountain King 75—80; Tipperary 8—10 cents.

WAIKIKI DEAD GIVEN REINTERMENT IN CITY

Two Hundred and Fifty Bodies Reinterred At Kawaiahao

All that remains of 250 bodies buried during the past half century in the old Kawaiahao cemetery in Waikiki were given a new resting place in a plot in the rear of the King Lunalilo Mausoleum in the Kawaiahao cemetery, Punch-bowl street, near King, yesterday. The work was completed at nine o'clock last night under charge of Charles Osborne of the Williams undertaking parlors.

Several hundred persons, mostly relatives and descendants of the dead, remained about the cemetery until the last shovelful of dirt was thrown on the site of the home where the long-dead would rest until the hand of man shall disturb them again.

There were seven lead caskets taken from the old Waikiki cemetery. These were also given a new home in the down town graveyard. It had been expected that special ceremonies and services would be held yesterday, but because of the heat of the day, the church decided against any such proceedings.

The old cemetery at Waikiki is no more. During the past week it was completely dug up and every vestige of the dead removed. The lot was purchased by the Territorial Hotel Company.

WEEKLY MARKET LETTER

The demand for the Boys' Industrial School's creamery butter has increased so much that the price has advanced to forty-five cents, wholesale and fifty cents, retail. Island eggs are still very scarce and the price remains the same as last week. Duck eggs have advanced during the week.

There is a good demand for all kinds of poultry, except ducks. The market is overstocked with Muscovy ducks, particularly at this time. A few dried beans are now coming from Maui and these are bringing very good prices considering the quality. If the farmers would take more pains in cleaning them they would get still better prices.

The large shipments of potatoes which were received during the week are being sold at $1.50 to $2.00 a hundred.

HAWAII'S AUDITOR FILES HIS REPORT

Figures Show Net Overdraft In General Fund of County of $42,363.84

There are many interesting items of county finance in the report of Hawaii County Auditor Sam. M. Spencer for the six months ending on June 30 last, which has just been issued. For the report is a detailed statement of all receipts and expenditures for the half year period.

In the summary of balances, for instance, it is shown that for this six months the receipts by the general fund were $139,101.59, while the total disbursements for the same time were $277,765.43, leaving an overdraft of $138,663.84. But of this overdraft there is to be refunded from the permanent improvement fund and the school funds the sum of $42,000, leaving a net overdraft of $42,363.84. So much for the general fund.

The road fund shows a better balance, for the receipts by this fund during the six months was $120,234.00 while the disbursements were $86,407.67, leaving a net balance of $33,826.33. Receipts for the permanent improvement fund amounted to $79,622.53, with disbursements of $51,812.83, leaving a balance of $27,809.70.

There is also a good balance in the school fund, the receipts for the period covered being $88,205.41, with disbursements of $47,024.40, and consequently a balance of $41,181.01.

Although the smallest fund, that for the preservation and importation of game birds, it is an interesting one, showing that the receipts have been $705.15 and the disbursements $147.17, which went for stocking Kalapana with game birds. There is still a balance of $557.98 in the fund.

Altogether the total receipts by the county in all funds for the six months were $482,229.25, while the total disbursements were $463,157.50, leaving a total balance to the good of $19,071.75, according to the figures given.

The Matson steamer Hilonian, passing port en route from Port Allen to Kahului, stopped at eleven thirty o'clock Saturday night to discharge a passenger.

MUCHLY MARRIED YOUNG MATRON WEDS ONCE MORE

Mary Dolores Is Eighteen Years Old and Twice a Bride

When Mary Dolores Al Ligna, an 18-year old Spanish divorcee who looks several years younger, applied on Tuesday evening to Marriage License Clerk Crockett at Waikiki, for a license to wed again, her request was denied because she had neglected to bring with her, her decree of divorce from her Korean husband. She and the Filipino who she sought the new permit left, apparently much disappointed but promising to return with the divorce decree the following day. And Mary did return, but she had changed her mind over night for this time she was accompanied by a different Filipino, and it was him she finally did marry. The girl was divorced about ten days ago on grounds of non-support, the decree becoming effective on August 1. She has two children.

PANAMA CANAL IS ABOUT COMPLETED

Commission Still Has $16,800,000 To Spend For Details and Permanent Work

The Panama canal is practically completed according to an announcement from the isthmian canal offices in Washington. The great work has so far cost $400,000,000 and the commission has $16,800,000 more to spend on perfecting details and for permanent equipment, outside of an additional $4,500,000 for fortifications.

On the actual waterway aside from equipment for business there remains nothing but some dredging to widen and deepen the channel through Culebra cut to its minimum dimensions of forty-one feet deep and 300 feet wide. Big items which go to make up the $16,800,000 which it is planned to still spend include $1,500,000 for a new pier at Cristobal. Over $1,000,000 each for two new colliers which, with two now in commission, will make a fleet of four colliers to transport coal from ports in the states to the coaling stations at Balboa and Cristobal, in addition to the fleet of six ships of the Panama railroad company which carry general supplies between the United States and the Canal Zone; three and a third mile to be spent by the building division for permanent quarters, administration buildings, etc.; $750,000 for enlarging and extending the Gatun hydro-electric plant which furnishes electricity for the lighting, for running the Balboa shops, where any repair work which a ship can bring can be handled, for running the canal towing locomotives.

Yes, It Came From Canada A smile has been going about the offices of the isthmian canal commission here at a newspaper "story," dated from Canada, quoting English engineers to the effect that the United States was already planning the abandonment of the Panama canal which the story said, was doomed to failure because of slides, etc. Although the story was recently published, those concerned were, apparently unaware that the canal has been open for business for several months and said that opening for business in the autumn was now officially expected. The story said, further, that the United States was already planning to build a canal by the Nicaraguan route.

KAMEHAMEHA DAY FILMS TO BE SHOWN

(Mail Special to The Advertiser.)

HILLO, August 3.—To a number of the members of the Hilo Fourth of July Committee and others, Ed. K. Fernandez gave a private exhibition of the films taken of the Kamehameha Day celebrations in Honolulu and the Fourth of July Festival in Hilo, this afternoon. The film is one of exceptional merit and will undoubtedly prove of great interest to residents of the Islands, particularly to those who came within the range of the camera whilst the pictures were being prepared.

The unveiling of Kamehameha's statue, followed by the polo game at Kapolei Park, in which Sam Baldwin was shown scoring the first goal, upon the way to scenes of the races, in which most of the winners are shown. Such names as Denervo, Umpqua, Ypres, Myrtle, Candy Girl, Gaiety, Oneonta and Miss Officials are depicted winning the respective events and are then paraded before the camera.

The Hilo scenes will give Honoluluans who were not present in the Crescent City on the Fourth an opportunity to realize what they missed, for the scenes of the parade, of the floats and decorated autos are well worthy the occasion. The view given on the Hilo juniors winning from Honolulu in the rowing races will bring home to the defeated Honoluluans how close the finish really was. The pictures will be shown in Honolulu in the near future, after being publicly shown here.

AUSTRALIAN GOVERNMENT BEGINS PROBE FOR GRAFT

(By The Associated Press.) MELBOURNE, August 7.—Walter Barclay Griffin, a Chicago architect, who several years ago won the contest for the best design for the new Commonwealth capital at Canberra, is involved in an investigation which the federal government has begun into the administration of the work at Canberra. Mr. Griffin is the director of design and construction, and the present minister for home affairs is King O'Malley, a Canadian who was formerly a New York bank clerk.

'PRINCESS' WARNS ATTORNEY-GENERAL NOT TO SUE HER

Bishop Estate Trustees Also Told To Beware Against Crowding Her Too Far

CONFIDENT SHE CAN SHOW CLEAR TITLE TO GORE LOT

Will Tie Up Property of Estate Unless She Is Left Alone. She Declares

Trustees of the Bernice Pauahi Bishop Estate, and the attorney general of the territory had better watch out. If they don't "Princess" Theresa Wilcox Bellivena will get real angry and tie their hands with legal red tape until they simply cannot move.

The Princess delivers this warning in a letter which she sent to The Advertiser yesterday. She speaks in emphatic terms of the Territory's threatened suit to get title to the gore lot, at the junction of Richard, King and Merchant streets, accuses the trustees of Bishop Estate of enlisting the Territory's assistance in seeking to get possession, and asserts that in retaliation she may tie up in lawsuits all the estate's lands, received from Princess Ruth.

She is confident of her ability to show clear right of possession, not only to the gore lot, but to much if not all of these lands passed down by Princess Ruth. She is at least determined to cling to the former.

Warning From Her Highness "The trustees of the Bishop Estate had better leave her alone," the "Princess" writes, referring to herself, "or else she will tie the estate up in law suits for all kinds of Kamehameha and Mataeo Kekuanoa, taken by Ruth Kekulani, now in the possession of the Bishop Estate."

The only lands that will be left out are those "given to Hon. Samuel Damon," and other private beneficiaries of Princess Ruth's will whom Theresa enumerates.

"What is the matter with the Bishop estate trustees, anyway," she inquires in another part of her epistle of protest and "promise." "Can't they fight with me alone? They own the Bishop bank, and lands to beat the band."

Declines To Be Bluffed "Must they crawl to the Government and get them to bluff me? I want to my right here that I will not stand any hot air from these trustees, with all their money. Honesty is the right road."

"Princess" Theresa also recites some history of Hawaiian descent, heritage and manipulations through which the gore lot has gone, and thus issues her challenge to W. H. Heen, deputy attorney general, who is preparing to file suit in circuit court in behalf of the territory to get title.

"This wonderful young man better look before he leaps, because when he leaps I am ready to catch him," she suggests a conference.

She advises him to confer more carefully with Land Commissioner Riverbrough and Henry Peters. He will find, she says, that Jose Nadali, from whom she claims to have inherited the property, obtained title to it by agreement and later applied for and received a land commission award, L. C. A. 1802.

She appears considerably more grieved than puffed to think that she should be regarded as a squatter.

"The Princess wants to know why they class her as a squatter when she is a Hawaiian born and belongs here and is a near relative of Mataeo Kekuanoa, the father of Kamehameha IV and V and of Princess Kaunamahu."

HAWAII PLANTATIONS REPORT ON THEIR SUPPLY FOR BIG COAST CONCERN

An estimate has been made by those plantations on the Big Island which will supply molasses to the Western Grain and Products Company of San Francisco, of which J. W. Bains is the local representative.

It shows that the by-product of molasses amounts to a considerable figure. By plantations the estimates are as follows:

Olan, season beginning about January 1, 6,500 tons; Waikanae, beginning about December 1, 2,800 tons; Papeete, January 1, 2,800 tons; Papeete, about January 1, 1,800 tons; Papeete, beginning about November 1, 1,500 tons; Oahu, about December 1, 1,000 tons; Kauai, January 1, 750 tons. This makes a total of 17,850 tons of molasses which these plantations expect to deliver during the season.

HAWAIIAN LAD INJURED IN MOTORCYCLE ACCIDENT

William Makachi, a Hawaiian youth, while riding on a motorcycle around Kapolei Park at three o'clock yesterday afternoon, fell from his machine and received several minor injuries. He was picked up by a passing automobile and taken to the department hospital at Fort Shafter, where his wounds were treated.
